

To whom it may concern:

March 20, 2020

I have known Oshri for over 10 years when we first met to discuss our startups' technology, and have found him to be quick to understand concepts and analytic in his response.

He possesses a rare quality of leadership based on self-assuredness, while guiding his team with humility and a clear understanding of how to motivate teams.

Oshri is fluent in a wide range of technologies, knowing how to assemble the puzzle in an efficient and modern approach to today's challenges.

I highly value his opinions and feedback, and feel he is an asset to any team that he contributes to. If there is anything else that I can do to assist, please feel free to reach out for more detailed information.

Sincerely,
